

Awarded to the winner of a
European Orthodontic Society
Best Scientific Poster

Yumi Inagaki

‘OPN3 mutations underlie non-syndromic oligodontia in Japanese’

Yumi Inagaki^{1,2}, Takuya Ogawa¹, Tatsuo Kawamoto³, Keiji Moriyama¹, Toshihiro Tanaka^{2,4}

¹Department of Maxillofacial Orthognathics, Division of Maxillofacial Neck Reconstruction,

²Department of Human Genetics and Disease Diversity, Graduate School of Medical and Dental Sciences, Tokyo Medical and Dental University, Bunkyo-ku, ³Division of Orofacial Functions and Orthodontics, Department of Health Improvement, Kyushu Dental University, Kitakyushu,

⁴BioResource Research Center, Tokyo Medical and Dental University, Bunkyo-ku, Japan

at the EOS 2021 Annual Virtual Conference

President

Dirk Bister,
Honorary Secretary